REFRESHED OLD STRAW IN HOUSE

Opposition Made Futile Effort to Show Necessity for Investigation of Other Departments

Ottawa, April 1.—The opposition has re-threshed old straw throughout today's sitting of the House of Commons. The abuses, shown by the Canadian government to have existed in the other departments, were the ground of an attack on the government's departments generally, and the whole day was spent in debating a resolution presented by Mr. George Dryden, now a member of the Conservative party, to supply on the motion estimates, demanding the appointment of a similar committee to investigate the other departments.

Hon. L. P. Broderup, as most effectively put it, had taken the first step to reform all the abuse complained of, and had already removed all the grosser sins against the department, and in respect to the other departments, there were no changes made in the same, failing even in this regard warranting any investigation.

Exodus' to Alberta

In a speech of an hour's duration, Mr. Doherty labored hard to prove that his department had done its duty in their duty not following up the revelations of the Casels' inquiry, and that he had done all the spending departments. He complained of the limitations which he had to work under, and quoted from Mr. Justice Cassels, and quoted from the report of the inquiry, and also from his own evidence to show that corruption was not confined to the man and fisheries department, but was also convincing in his statement, at any rate set an example of some of his colleagues in the House. His moderation of his language and in his avoidance of personalities and of recklessness, was a decided contrast to the frankness with which he had been franked from the abuse, which has often been leveled at his party. Hon. Mr. Broderup went out of his way to pay a tribute to the integrity of the minister of finance, Mr. Alexander MacKenzie, and Liberal members cordially acknowledged.

A Moderate Reply.

Hon. Mr. Broderup replied with moderation, but with considerable more effect than the champion, who must be held officially responsible for the losses, which had been wreaked by the opposition. He responded that Mr. Justice Cassels and others had been instrumental in getting the system, and that anyone in operation since Confederation until his arrival in Ottawa, had not driven this point home very effectively by quoting from the official documents of the time. In 1867, in 1868, when Hon. George E. Foster was minister of marine and fisheries, he gave the Canadian government a marine department at Quebec continually purchasing supplies from foreign countries, and it was agreed that they, who were on the promise list, despite a recommendation by the then minister of marine, should be open to public tender.

Mr. Broderup said that he did not blame Mr. Foster for doing what his predecessors had done, but admitted that he had been unable to get the legislation to condemn his (Mr. Broderup) for following a system which the Canadian government, in the past had pursued. That system was now a thing of the past, and the new system of the department had instructed to buy supplies without regard to the nationality of the men in the organization. The administration of the department, he showed, had been eminently satisfactory to him, and the counterpart affected.

Northern Africa Unfavorable for Purse

London, Eng., April 1.—Owing to the unfavorable character of the report of Prof. Gregory, leader of the expedition of the Royal Geographical Society, to the Jewish territorial organization expected to find territory for Jewish settlement in Northern Africa, the administration has decided to take, at present, no further action looking to the colonization of the country.

IN A DUNKEN FRENZY ALEX. MILLER KILLED HIS PARTNER

Shocking Knight Murder in Loony Shack in Bush at Minnetonka, Near Dryden Ontario. Alex. Miller Attacked John Bell with a Lantern. Bell Was Lying in a Bunk. Juglar Vein Was Severed. Miller Continues to His Home Unconscious of What He Had Done.

Kentwood, April 2.—The story of a garrulous knight in a lonely shack in the bush, who had taken at the opportunity to make steps to reform all the abuse complained of, and had already removed all the grosser sins against the department, and in respect to the other departments, there were no changes made in the same, failing even in this regard warranting any investigation.

Buckley Processed Home. Miller then followed Buckley out where Miller, unconscious that he had been attacked, had run away to it at 1 o'clock this morning by Edward and Jack Robinson, who had come from the maimed Minnetonka, four miles east, to teach to Dryden to the west. The two men had been lying in his bed by a blow from a lantern in minutes. Alex Miller, lame, was unable to strike a light and becoming alarmed he went home to the police.

Details of the Case. The details are substantially as follows:

Returning with Robinson and a lantern they found Bell whose jugular vein had been severed and broken from the lumber and breaking glass already dead. The body was badly maimed. Bell had been cut to the bone above the eye, and below the brow, and still remains in unconsciousness. Bell has returned to the scene of the killing, and is now in hospital, and will be sent home to Miller, who was not even aware of his partner's whereabouts. Buckley was not even aware of his partner's whereabouts. Buckley was larger and was overpowered and thrown out of the shack.

Had Been Drinking. Both men, it is alleged, had been drinking heavily and Miller, who was helping his partner to bed in the shack, became the only light in the room, the shade of the lantern being the only light in the room. It is the effect of the blow on Bell was not at the moment apparent. Buckley then rang the telephone and is expected to arrive at Minnetonka, the scene of the killing, this morning.

Doherty, who is charged he committed perjury in the jury assizes by swearing that Mrs. G. D. Bowes-Lyon, a widow, had fled, and was overpowered and thrown out of the shack.

HARRIMAN TO DIVIDE WORK WITH A BOARD

Railroad King Selects a Corps of Experts to Conduct His Vast Interests Under His Own General Dictation.

San Francisco, April 1.—The real purpose of Harriman's western trip is to form a committee of the most eminent officials of the railroad system. The most important managing the big properties under the general direction of Harriman himself. This board will consist of the following officials:

William R. Herin, chief counsel of the railroads; Charles E. Schmidt, director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman lines; J. C. Gandy, president of the Harriman properties; William Hood, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific.

The new group will manage the complete management of the gigantic interests which Harriman will build up.

Harriman will dictate policy, his advisory will relieve him of the active management of his holdings. This arrangement will give him full control of railroad properties, but will extend to the various other lines he owns in Salt Lake and the Angeleno, the numerous oil interests in the United States and Mexico, the ownership interest in the Pacific and the many power projects in the Western States.

Slave to Unification

Harriman has been a slave to the principle of unification and standardization. For years he has insisted on his interests centered in one main authority. Departments will be created to insure a maximum of efficiency.

The new arrangement was made Harriman, who is still the head of the most powerful grip in the commercial world. Each one is authority in his field, but when put together they represent the essentials of effective railroad management.

The new arrangement concerns the American, Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists and Congregationalists met at the same time and heard inspiring address from men who have studied and considered ways and means of making the task of missionary enterprise might be adequately formed.

Groups of western delegates had been gathered at the same time, connection with the consulting board had their training in San Francisco.

William Hood, the Harriman by birth and a Californian from choice. When a young man he was associated with the great John D. Stewart, of Nevada, and showed an aptitude for large affairs.

He has been a lawyer, afterwards as chief counsel for the Bank of California. He also managed the Shoshone estate and the Shoshone Valley Water Company. C. P. Huntington single him out to succeed the late C. P. Huntington as president of the legal department of the Southern Pacific. When Huntington died, the Southern Pacific, Harriman succeeded to retire and so informed Harriman.

"You don't know what the future holds," said the old man, "but the burden you have imposed on me."

"I have been a very busy man for many years," answered Harrim, "and I think I have been well used."

Cant Let You Go.

Harriman turned him and said: "I can't let you go. If you want anything, say so. You are indispensable."

The upshot of it was that Harriman remained, and has become Harriman's chief counsel.

Julius Krutschtein is a graduate of the University of Virginia, and with the exception of New Orleans when he was brought here by C. P. Huntington, he has been with the Harriman lines. Krutschtein was taken to Chicago as director of maintenance and operations.

J. C. Gandy is old and efficient. He is part and parcel of the old school there. Upon one occasion he lost his patience and left the South. The result was that he was sent back to the South. Upon his return he was immediately sent to Frank Huntington immediately sent for peace and brought him back.

William Hood is in many respects like Harriman. He is a tireless worker, and his work gives him a famous place in the engineering world.

Winning, April 1.—There will be between thirty and thirty-five new elevators under construction along the G.W.R. line. They were said J. E. Dalrymple, assistant freight traffic manager of the road, this morning.

Mr. Dalrymple returned last night from an inspection trip at the docks in London, where he found that the line is in splendid condition, and that the trust and snow of winter had not done any damage. Many sections are going into the country over the G.W.R., and considerable work is being done on the front for traffic laying just as soon as the frost leaves. The road sufficient to lay the work done under way.

One of the important works along the line this summer will be the erection of new elevators. They have already been built at the divisional points, and the road will supply all the towns that have shown reasonable development. This work will be finished in a few weeks. E. G. Chamberlain, managing director, the road, is now on his way to Vancouver. Mr. Dalrymple is due to-night for the coast. From there he will go to Prince Rupert, where the work will be inspected.

The hospital situation in both Edmonton and Strathcona is receiving considerable attention just now from clergymen and sundry sources. It is to be regretted, however, that as far as Edmonton is concerned, that these are not the only people who are interested in it. In fact, there is nothing to be done but to look for guidance in the matter. At present the citizens—who know comparatively little about hospitals and hospital management—is in something of a quandary as to what is best to do. There are those who like to know what the others are doing similar—those holding on to anything similar—can hold on longer and the nation that holds out longest is the winner. So in peopling a wild-west with industrial and entrepreneurial people Canada has held on to its own to even defend our own shores. And in these days the military chest is an unusually important part of the military equipment of a nation. We can all experience "A New Brunswick Lake Louise." It is particularly interesting to see how the country interest all its own. A similar variety of fate will be in store for those who have been so fortunate as to have the Lady's House Hunt in New Brunswick."

On the other hand, the sportsman who has decided to defend himself and building up a latent strength that in the heat of need could be turned to the support of the fighting forces of the Empire. We have been converted to the idea in the line into a fortress although we have not installed the armaments yet.

But this determination of Canadians to do their share both for themselves and their Imperial allies does not bring an end to the question. Britain is keen and anxious to get into the business of building battleships with the frenzy of the European powers or of the great nation to the south of us. Just why we should expect over here to be as hard to find as in some countries is the question that the medical school may be altogether at sea, but that is because it is not informed as to just what would be the condition of things in such an institution.

What the ratepayers of the city as persons interested really want to know is whether the present hospital facilities of the city are adequate for its present and for a reasonable future to come; if not how much more facilities are required; and what is the best way to secure these? This information the ratepayer does not want from the newspaper or the writer whose signature and attainment are as household nor authorities thereon—from businessmen, not from individual medical practitioners. First, he wants to hear what the medical association of the city thinks. Rightly or wrongly he regards Dr. Foster as authority on the subject and will give probably most heed to their verdict. If they disagree the opinion of the majority will weigh with him. Then he will turn to his family physician, the medical health officer of the city, viewing the problem from the standpoint of the city's health. Then he would like to have the benefit of the experience of the hospital board—a group of men who have given their public spirit in their work and who must have accumulated a fund of knowledge regarding hospitals in general and the hospital conditions in Edmonton. The Local Hospital Aid Association has been a steady ally of the public hospital in time of need, and she view of this city is worth considering. Aside from these sources of course the judgment of business men to the public interest will be welcomed by the public. But these are the sources to which the public look for authoritative pronouncements which will bring order out of chaos and terminate one of the most vexing cessions which at present seems to be getting anywhere. The public will be guided largely by the opinions of these authorities, for the subject is one on which no private practitioner quite qualified to give advice. It is a fair conclusion since that it would take a pronounced appeal of the union idea by these bodies to bring the public mind in the new government. Until the present plan is declared unnecessary the public ought to know and who are accepted as knowing, the public will not approve a departure from it.

NO OCCASION FOR HYSTERICS.

Of course Canada will defend her interests in sea and land in accord with the increase in her population and wealth; a of course these defences will be made in the manner best at the service of the Empire. It did not need a Parliamentary debate to tell us that. It is one of the instinctive evolutions of the Canadian people.

The resolution of Mr. Foster meant this—with the sole exception that it had not been making as rapid headway in the matter as she should. The resolution of Sir Wilfrid means this without the suggestion.

The resolution of Mr. Foster also agreed with the same. And the speeches on the subject did not merely give expression to this thoroughly understood maxim of national life.

—a maxim the less thorough we understand that our people do not consider it necessary to be perpetually talking about. Perhaps it is in the Canadian nature to do more than we do in the United States, but we have been strengthening our militia, have assumed the defence of the fortresses on our coasts, have built a body of naval monitors, cruisers who a body of naval militia are undergoing training that largely fits them for the stern business of war. But we have been concentrating our efforts and means to the advantage of the military side. This hinders us in our efforts to recruit arms and to even defend our own shores. And in these days the military chest is an unusually important part of the military equipment of a nation. We can all experience "A New Brunswick Lake Louise." It is particularly interesting to see how the country interest all its own. A similar variety of fate will be in store for those who have been so fortunate as to have the Lady's House Hunt in New Brunswick."

CURRENT COMMENT.

An Indian called Crazy Snake is the war-path in Oklahoma. He is still looking for the man who framed him.

Lord Strathcona has given $10,000 a year to teach young Canadians how to live. His willingness to do something for the country that has done considerable for him is worthy of emulation.

APRIL ROD AND GUN.

The first sight of the fine cover of the "April Rod and Gun" in Canada Number of Rod and Gun in Canada published by W. J. Taylor, Woods Stock, Ont. Will stir the blood of the thousands of sportsmen throughout the Dominion and start them on the long and varied work of preparing for the coming fray. The long and varied history, in which fish and fishing topics predominate, will still further stimulate the interest of the angler. The fishing season will probably set an increase in the anglers ranks as one result of the wide dissemination of these stories. Three articles stand out as very valuable in this connection. One is "The Nation's Fish," by Cyrus McCormick, an illustrated descriptive account of the salmon fisheries of the world. Another is "The Unsolved Mystery of the Salmon," by Bonaventure, which gives two accounts of the Pacific coast studying the ways of the salmon, and with the exception of the salmon fisheries of the world, the fisherman in ten separate provinces are told in a manner irresistibly readable how to catch them. Another is "A New Brunswick Lake Louise." It is particularly interesting to see how the country interest all its own. A similar variety of fate will be in store for those who have been so fortunate as to have the Lady's House Hunt in New Brunswick."

THE NAVAL DEFENSE QUESTION.

Editor Bulletin.

Sixty-second meeting of the club held for Saturday evening at the M.C.C.A. to consider the question of Canadian naval defence.

The paragraph in yesterday's paper entitled "The Naval Defense Question" was passed at a meeting at which only seven members were present.

It is the opinion of the club that in Edmonton there should be no organization of such an character.

If there were such an organization it would do the existing situation sufficiently grave to warrant us in giving a large meeting as to warn the sending out of their resolutions.

The object of the club is to promote

LETHBRIDGE MINERS OBEY SHERMAN'S ORDER

Supreme Work Pending Settlement of Wage Scale Difficulty With Western Coal Operators' Association—Western Sticketts Claims Union Officers Are Responsible for the Trouble.

Lethbridge, April 1.—At a meeting this afternoon the local miners decided to temporarily accept President Sherman's order to suspend work pending a satisfactory agreement of terms. No word has been received yet as to what will happen tomorrow. About 700 men are affected here in the Galt mines and the two pits.

Melville, April 1.—Your correspondent interviewed Lewis Stockell, the president of the Western Coal Operators' association. He declined to give any information other than that concerning the strike. He said that the miners had taken a place between the miners' union and the mine owners. The correspondence is as follows—

U. M. W. of A., District No. 18, Macleod, Alta., March 31, 1909.
Dear Sir—
I beg to inform you that the workmen employed by the Western Coal Operators' association in their various mines, coke ovens and outside plants, have been instructed to remain at work until a satisfactory settlement of their agreement until such time as a satisfactory agreement can be made between District No. 18 and the companies comprising your association. We are ready at any time to enter into further negotiations to end the strike as made by me today, while in conference with you.

F. H. SHERMAN,
Pres. Dist. No. 18 U.M.W.A.

President Sherman's Reply—
Macleod, Alta., March 31.
Mr. F. H. Sherman, President District No. 18, United Mine Workers of America.

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your letter of even date and note that you have accepted my proposal made by the Western Coal Operators' association in their various mines, coke ovens and outside plants, to remain at work until a satisfactory agreement can be made between District No. 18 and the companies comprising our association. I trust that you will accept my thanks for the consequences of your action and that you are prepared to accept the responsibility of carrying out the plan to prevent any misapprehension on the part of these vitally interested. I do hope that you will accept my thanks for the following facts. On the fourth day of May, 1907, an agreement in writing was made between the Western Coal Operators' association on the one part and the employees of the coal operators on the other, each as represented by the United Mine Workers of America District No. 18, regarding the terms and conditions under which coal was to be mined at our mines. This agreement was for two years commencing April 1, 1907, and ending March 31, 1909. It was one of the best agreements ever made by the coal operators and their union, and it was agreed that the parties thereto would meet in conference 60 days prior to the expiration of the term of the agreement. On the 12th day of January, 1909, we convened and the officers of the local unions, and the officers of the coal operators, met to discuss the purpose of discussing a renewal of the original agreement and it was agreed that a formal meeting should be held at Macleod commencing on the 2nd day of March, at which time and place a meeting of the coal operators and their union and seven representatives of your union committee negotiations for the renewal of the original agreement and after conferences extending over a period of upwards of three weeks, when John J. Lewis, T. Morgan, representing T. J. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, was present, a new agreement was passed.

Terms Agreed Upon.

The terms of an agreement were finally agreed upon and the scale committee disbanded. The Crown, Nest Pass, and Western Coal Operators' association, and before the completion of the negotiations withdrawn from membership in the International Union. After the negotiation of the agreement by the scale committee the conference committee, which was to be appointed to submit to a referendum vote of the miners and it was agreed that in the event of a majority of the miners adopting the agreement, it would be submitted to a referendum vote of the miners and it was agreed that the president of your union and our president should agree to the execution of the agreement accordingly on the 29th inst. Having been advised of the above, and as the miners had adopted the agreement, I met you at Fortin and it was arranged that we should meet at the White House on the 29th instant. On the 28th instant, the day before the 29th, I met you to execute the agreement, provided my solicitors could be present. You were not present on the day last but I received a telegram at Hodson from you stating that your solicitors would be present on the 29th instant. I accordingly advised the representatives of the various companies that you would be present and arranged to attend at Macleod to be present for our solicitors to be present. You did not come on the 29th instant, we met this afternoon when, to the surprise of every operator present, you came up to the White House. Nest Pass Coal Company had executed an agreement since our last meeting, and you had no right to be present upon us, you would not sign any agreement not along the lines of the original agreement.

Admitted It Was Approved.

"In reply, I pointed out to you that we had agreed upon a scale and had agreed upon between us and thereupon you and your associates withdrew from the International Union. I believe that the agreement which had been negotiated by the scale committee had been approved by the miners, and by a majority of the miners in a referendum vote. Shortly after the two sides got up the agreement, you sent me a letter stating that the miners had been instructed to suspend work. It must, I think, be apparent that the responsibility for the failure to execute the agreement which had been concluded after protracted negotiations lies with the miners, and that the public may sustain much rest, not with the members of the railway company. I would like to assure you that you have accepted and adopted the agreement submitted to you, and that the members of our association, I must again express my regret to you, that you have chosen to instruct the suspension of work in the collection of the miners, instead of offering an indemnity of thousands of workmen. Yours truly,

LEWIS STOCKELL,
President, Western Coal Operators' Association.

Immigration Department Executive Order: Raided Inspection.

Ottawa, April 1.—During the fiscal year just ended the immigration department has deported over 1,700 persons, mostly Chinese, who, on their arrival in Canada, have been found to be undesirable citizens. The question was recently referred to the Immigration Commission, held recently in this city, and judgment was reserved. The Immigration Department has received the application for interlocking switches and permits the same to be installed in the main line of the car line without stopping the car or the running ahead of the car, who gets it?

NOT SPASMODIC ENTHUSIASM

Canada's Policy Warmly Welcome by London Times.

London, April 2.—The Times Sunday's correspondent today says that Dreadnought had yet made been sent to the South Wales government.

The Canadian government, in the term of the Canadian naval resolution, as it represents the decision to proceed with the building of the dreadnaughts, is more valuable than the warmest outburst of spasmodic enthusiasm, without a doubt. The Times adds that the policy thus far adopted by the Dominion is maintained by all the Dominions, as well as the British colonies.

TORONTO LICENSES INCREASED.

Other Amendments Introduced to Ontario License Act.

British Labor Party Says Aid to Employers should be on Business Basis.

London, April 2.—The Labor party has written the government to the effect that the proposed changes to the License Act. The increase in the cost of selling without license is to be about equal to the cutting off of forty licenses. First offenders will be given a choice of a fine or a month's imprisonment, and not determined by waves of impulsive. Your action has done much to regulate business dignity and stability than that which has been urged upon you from some quarters.

THE STREET RAILWAY SCORES OVER THE C.P.R.

This Railway Company's Request For An Order Competing the Street Railway to Inter-locking Switches Has Been Refused by the Railway Commission.

For many official orders of the Board of Railway Commissioners, just received by Superintendent Taylor, it appears that the Edmonton street railway company has applied to the Canadian Pacific Railway in connection with the crossings over the C.P.R. tracks.

When the street car line was being built the C.P.R. officials consented to the crossing of the street line over any further precautions than are taken at the present time.

Later on the company appealed to the Railway Commission and asked that the street railway be compelled to interlock switches and couplers entirely at their own expense.

The question was referred to the Railway Commission, held recently in this city, and judgment was reserved.

The railway also received the afternoon express, just prior to leaving for Calmar, a town over Whyley avenue and run out on the second line.

This has been done for some time past.

The railway has now taken to the practice of cutting off forty licences.

First offenders will be given a choice of a fine or a month's imprisonment.

ORGANIZATION AND PERSONAL WORK COUNT

Hon. W. T. Finlay, Minister of Agriculture, State Capital for First Time Since Election. How He Succeeded in Defeating Major Sissens By Large Majority.

Hon. W. T. Finlay, minister of agriculture, who came up from Medicine Hat to the Windsor Hotel last evening, giving him the official welcome which he received at the election meetings in the recent elections. The telegram reads that of 1,000 votes cast, Mr. Finlay secured 1,160 and Major Sissens 500, thus 1,360 showed a majority of 660 votes in favor of the Major to defeat his deposit.

Mr. Finlay's speech was brief and to the point, rest after the election. He spoke before the whole constituency, the fact that he had secured nearly the whole constituency before the polling day and made no speech on the platform, contrasted with those politicians who gave a small talk against him, and reached the conclusion that he had won the election. He believed that the C.P.R. vote and the farmer and labor vote were the main factors in his victory.

How Organization Helps.
"Organization and hard work on the part of the candidates and their friends is the secret of my constituency," said Mr. Finlay. "There was a general feeling on the part of the people that I would be beaten by acclamation, and it was thought that I would be until right up to the time of the election. A great many of the men who voted Conservative at the Federal election and retired to Medicine Hat did not know what to do, but the majority of 200 displayed their intention to support me. The result shows that the people who did not have the opportunity to vote again must have voted in my favor. This is a tribute not only to myself but also to the work of the Rutherford government."

Personal Work Counts.

As far as personal work on the part of the candidate, Mr. Finlay told of driving 56 miles to Kamsack to speak to the farmers, a meeting of ranchers at Lethbridge, Alta., April 1—of the 200 who attended, 180 were won over by acclamation, and it was thought that I would be until right up to the time of the election. A great many of the men who voted Conservative at the Federal election and retired to Medicine Hat did not know what to do, but the majority of 200 displayed their intention to support me. The result shows that the people who did not have the opportunity to vote again must have voted in my favor. This is a tribute not only to myself but also to the work of the Rutherford government."

TIME EXTENSIONS—OPPOSED.

Granting of Further Time Means That Other Railways Kept Out.

Ottawa, March 30.—There is a fight in the Senate to extend the time for construction of the following branches of the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway.

Shell River branch from Russell to the northern or western boundary of Manitoba.

Arden branch, eastward of Riding Mountain to the northern boundary of Manitoba.

From Westbourne to Lake Dauphin, Freshwater to a point south of Quill Lakes.

From Broadenburg to Cawelti, Freshwater to a point south.

There was a somewhat lengthy debate from the western members that the Canadian Northern enterprises, should give the committee an assurance of the determination to build the line to the northern Mesas. Neely and Buttan objected to an extension of time for the Prairie Ashby branch, which it was thought would not be built, but would prove very useful to the Canadian Northern.

Mr. Buttan moved that the bill stand over, but that bill was not passed, and was not reported. The bill providing for an extension of time for the construction of the above-mentioned branches will be held at Red Deer about the middle of the month.
